Contact Jamil Directly: 0207 353 6802 or clerks@goldsmithchambers.com

Jamil is a public and human rights lawyer, specialising in personal and business immigration, international protection and nationality law. He has over a decade's experience representing individuals at all levels in appeals and judicial reviews raising issues of asylum & international protection, trafficking, unlawful detention, human rights, EU and nationality law. He also regularly advises and acts for businesses and charitable organisations in immigration matters.

Jamil has developed a reputation for excellent client care, thorough preparation, clear advice, creative problem-solving and fearless advocacy. His practice is built on the principles of being accessible to the lay and professional clients who instruct him, fighting his hardest for those he represents and leaving no stone unturned in trying to secure a successful outcome for his clients.

Jamil has a number of reported cases, has been published and lectures extensively in public and human rights law.

Jamil has appeared on various media platforms, including The Victoria Derbyshire Show, to commentate on developments in immigration law.

Jamil runs pro bono legal advice clinics at a number of charities. He is committed to ensuring that everyone has access to honest, accurate legal advice and professional legal representation, regardless of their means.

Jamil is qualified to accept instructions directly from the members of the public through the Bar's direct access scheme.

In addition to his work at the Bar, Jamil is a Visiting Lecturer at the University of Law and is a fee-paid Judge of the First-tier Tribunal (Immigration & Asylum Chamber).
