Tracey now specialises in Family law, having previously had a wide early practice including civil and criminal law, to appellate level.

Tracey is qualified to accept instructions from members of the public, via the direct access scheme.

Family

Tracey has extensive experience of children law cases, where drug or alcohol misuse, mental health or domestic abuse issues are present.

Tracey frequently represents vulnerable clients and ensures that appropriate special measures are adopted.

Notable Cases

- Multi-party High Court care proceedings involving victims of human trafficking and sexual slavery, acting on behalf of a victim of the abuse; dealing with both extensive fact finding and complex outcomes.
- Representing an asylum-seeking father in care proceedings where placement with the asylum seeker was proposed.
- Representing a young mother in care proceedings where removal at birth was proposed due to historical familial issues.
- Involvement in complex public law proceedings where sexual abuse was alleged within the family.
- Representing a mother with learning difficulties in care proceedings, where sexual abuse within the home was suspected.
